

Rowan Today

Mom Edition v1.0

Purpose: This is not school. It is 15–20 minutes of connection through play. Follow Rowan's interests. If he loses interest, stop. Ending on a positive note is a success.

1. Start the Mission (2 minutes)

Say: 'Chief Investigator, we've got a new case.'

Let Rowan choose ONE theme: Monster Trucks • Chess • Food.

2. Monster Truck Mystery (5 minutes)

Case:

Grave Digger has muddy tires.

Bigfoot is upside down.

The orange ramp moved.

Ask: 'What do you think happened?'

Follow with:

- What clue made you think that?
- Could there be another explanation?
- What clue would help you know for sure?

3. Chess Mystery (5 minutes)

'One piece is secretly threatening another.'

Ask:

- Which piece do you suspect?
- Why?
- What clue helped you decide?

4. Food Mystery (3 minutes)

'Someone ate the last snack.'

Ask:

- Who might have done it?
- What clues do we have?
- What other explanations are possible?

5. Finish (30 seconds)

Say:

'I liked how you looked for clues.'

Don't focus on being right. Praise curiosity, reasoning, and effort.

Mom's Pocket Guide

Remember:

- Ask more than you tell.
- Curiosity beats correction.
- Praise thinking, not just answers.
- End while he's still engaged.
- If he becomes frustrated, switch to a new mystery or stop. Success is a positive interaction, not finishing every activity.
